Final edition

This will be the last edition of Commission Update. From 1 November, it will be replaced by a new publication from the Electricity Authority.

Recipients of Commission Update will automatically receive the new publication by email as at present.

Replacement of Commission website

The Commission's website will not be available after 31 October. It will be replaced on 1 November by the Electricity Authority's site at www.ea.govt.nz.

Apart from information relating to electricity efficiency, grid upgrades and security of supply which becomes the responsibility of EECA, the Commerce Commission and Transpower respectively, most content provided by the Commission will be available on the Authority's website.

A user guide is being provided on the Authority's website to assist users to understand the layout of the new site, find required information and update bookmarks.

Electricity Authority email addresses

Email addresses for the Authority will simply substitute 'ea' for 'electricitycommission'. Please change your address book details accordingly, although emails sent inadvertently to an 'electricitycommission' address will automatically be redirected to the corresponding 'ea' address for a period of time.
